What is Meesho's return and exchange policy?

Based on the Meesho.Com Legal Returns, Refunds And Replacement document, here is a summary of the return and exchange policy:

Returns

- You can return products purchased on the Platform within the specified return period detailed on the product description page [1][2].
- To initiate a return, you must create a 'return request' under the 'My Orders' section and follow the platform's instructions [2].
- The product must be kept in its original manufacturer's packaging with all tags intact, be unused, and include any warranty card [3].
- Returns are subject to quality checks at pickup and upon receipt; if the product fails these checks or is not in an acceptable condition, no refund will be made [3].
- Products explicitly identified as 'not returnable' on the product detail page cannot be returned [1].

Exchanges

- Exchanges are subject to the reason provided by the customer; products are not eligible for exchange if the reason is lack of interest or quality issues, and Meesho will not accept exchanges if the wrong product is sent, the return process wasn't followed, or the request is made in bad faith [4].
- The exchange request must be raised within the return window period specified on the product detail page [4].
- Once a product has been exchanged, no further exchanges can be made on the same order [2].
- If an exchange cannot be met due to product unavailability, Meesho may convert the request to a return at its sole discretion [2].

What about non-returnable items?

Based on the Meesho.Com Legal Returns, Refunds And Replacement document, products explicitly identified as 'not returnable' on the product detail page cannot be returned [1][3].
